

A Case of Conscience.—New and then we hear of what are called "cases of conscience;"

such as when a man steals a pocket-book and finds its interior a dull vacuity, and advertises for the owner. A rare description of stricken conscience is the restoration, after a long lapse, of a watch stolen from a bank. We believe there is no instance of a man coming to himself, and any body who has made free with the treasures of Uncle Samual, who is generally recognized as a pleasant gentleman, with a plecthoric purse open to every body. But by all odds the most remarkable case of conscience which has ever presented itself to our notice came to pass in the doubly-refined Boston city. A celebrated liquor importer in that metropolis of literature and puritanism was relieved of his pocket book while engaged in his devotions at church. A few days afterward he received the pocket book through the post (postage actually prepaid) together with a note. In this document the writer set forth that, after spending the money, he discovered to his utter horror that he had been enjoying funds obtained in the impious liquor traffic. He therefore begged to return the pocket book, and was anxious to do the same by the money, should he be able to lay hands on it again.

There is something left to the imagination, also, telling this of a very ludicrous character. The facial expression of the man, at the precise moment when he came an elated look into his restored pocket-book must have been rather startling and unique. The melancholy consciousness of the conscience stricken that must have struck him with peculiar and painful force, and perhaps the sound truth that church is the last place to visit with a full pocket-book received a hearty embrace.—Philadelphia Journal.

"Anti-Rent Difficulties.—The anti-renters of Rensselaer county, N. Y., are again agitating against paying their rents. A meeting was held a few days since, at Sandlake, which was addressed by A. J. Colrin and Mr. Bimham, of Albany, who undertook to demonstrate that the Rubeys were not entitled to the land.

the lands to which they lay claim, and that this title which he once possessed is now possessed by the tenants, and that, too, by the Patroon's own acts. They also quoted sundry decisions of the Court of Appeals, showing that the modern claims put by the agents of the Patroon are unlawful, and cannot be maintained on any court in the United States. The tenants do not intend to pay rent until the Court of Appeals has decided the question.

A mail steamer, to be called the Scotia, is now building on the Clyde, to run between Liverpool and the United States. She will be 450 feet in length, which is 60 feet longer than the Persia, at present the largest ship afloat. The Scotia will, it is expected, surpass in speed the

It is stated that the canals of New York are no longer a source of revenue, and are now unable to sustain the immense burden of debt, which improvident legislation has cast upon them. The total State debt on the 1st of January, 1857, was over $31,000,000, and with the annual chargeable on the canal revenues amounts to

A LOST INHERITANCE.
The Paris correspondent of the New York Express writes thus:
"I have a story to relate to your readers this week, which, though occupying more space than usually devote to incidents, conveys so excellent a moral that I have yielded to the temptation to

The train from Paris to Lyons stopped at the station of Joigny, a town upon the route, and again went on, after leaving a few passengers at the depot, for a moment crowded with railroad agents and lookers on, was soon deserted by all but two individuals.

"Yes, my good man," replied the youth with haughtiness of manner, "and I have no doubt you are Mr. Martin?"

"Well, Mr. Martin," continued Clement in the same tone, "I began to imagine you intended to keep me waiting. That would not have been the best manner to have insinuated yourself into my good graces."

The old man instead of replying, let his head fall upon his breast as if in deep affliction and conducted the new comer towards a large hall and pointed a doorway to which a rough looking boy

"Here is your carriage, sir," said Martin. "If it will be good enough to get in, I will have the honor of conducting you to the Hermitage."

"What my carriage, sir?" cried Cleve. "Why, I shall be taken for a travelling pedagogue."

Notwithstanding, as there seemed no means of avoiding it, he took a seat beside the old man, and sat there, without expressions of dislike. In ar-

But a few days before, Mr. Clement B., who was put on so many grand airs, was a simple clerk in a crockery store in Paris, and possessed the reputation of being a quiet unpretentious fellow. What, then, had brought about this sudden and radical transformation? How had he become, since the precious day, a rich man?

and it may be well understood that the possessor of an income of 20,000 francs a year finds it difficult to retain the modest demeanor of a poor clerk. On the previous day, while dusting the shelves of crockery under his charge, a letter had arrived for him by the post, conveying to him the startling intelligence that one of his tuncle; of whom he had often heard as an eccentric; an old man, but whom he had never

SATURDAY, MAY 16, 1857.

American Central Railway.

Another and very material advance has been made in the progress of this great enterprise. We are pleased to announce it: for we regard it as an event which will surely, beyond all doubt, facilitate and speedily complete the whole of the magnificent line of railroads which is to connect, by the straightest and most direct route, the Atlantic States and cities with the "Far West."

The contract which was lately negotiated and signed by Mr. Schuch, the President of the Fort Wayne Western Railroad Company, with William M. Redfield, at New York, for grading, bridging, furnishing and laying down the iron, and making all complete for the running of the line from Fort Wayne to the west boundary line of Indiana, 125 miles, has been ratified and closed by the Board of Directors, who were in session here this week. Mr. Redfield, we understand, has made such arrangements with other parties, who are to aid with money and in a small measure the cost of building and finishing the road in less than eighteen months, the time fixed in the contract. Mr. Redfield is himself one of the most experienced and energetic railroad builders, and is already engaged to go to work with his accustomed promptness.

The Fort Wayne Western Railroad was the only remaining link not yet constructed for, in the great American Central chain to and beyond the Mississippi river. West of Indiana, the Western Air Line, across the state of Illinois, 185 miles, is steadily progressing—one half of the distance in that distance being already done. The Illinois portion of the work, as well as a few miles of the Philadelphia, Fort Wayne & Platte River Air Line road, on the other side of the Mississippi in Iowa, which is also in a state of forwardness and progress, can all be finished in about the same time that the road will be in operation through Indiana. Next on the east is the Tiffin and Fort Wayne railroad, (162 miles) now all graded. The iron for that road is purchased, and the laying it down to commence early in July next. Eastward from Tiffin in Ohio, 40 miles of the Clinton Extension will connect all this work from the Westward, with the Cleveland & Columbus railroad, and thus make an outlet to Cleveland, and thence by the Lake Shore road to New York and the North. We learn that within a few days past, some arrangement has been effected, a contract by which this forty miles of the Clinton road is to be finished early next season; and the Cleveland & Columbus road to furnish rolling stock and run it for twenty years. Without abandoning the great original idea of the American Central Railway, to be carried directly Eastward by the Clinton Line and Vantage roads, through Ohio and Pennsylvania, this arrangement, securing an immediate outlet at Cleveland on the Lake and with a slight divergence from the straight line must be of the most essential importance and advantage to all concerned, and to the whole trade and travel of the West and East.

From the point of intersection, at New London, on the Cleveland and Columbus railroad, to Cleveland, is only 47 miles. Here then is one great continuous straight road from Cleveland, 162 miles in length, to the Mississippi, across one of the very finest and most productive portions of Indiana, and thence, with an extension to the very best portion of Iowa; and with water connections and interconnections in all these states, manifesting its business, its interests and its advantages to an almost endless extent. Is not this a mighty work? And will not its completion at last—produce results of growth and progress—wealth and improvement, beyond perhaps any other one enterprise which has for a long time, or ever before, been projected and executed in our country? But we do not design now to speculate upon, or calculate these results.—Our purpose was simply to present to the gratifying facts which we have recorded.

One peculiarity however there is, which has struck us in considering the future of this great line of roads, and which we cannot forbear to mention. Cut off all its connections, and all its numerous feeders, and its outlets east and west, and yet it is of such course and situation, in the region it traverses, that it would be, of itself, a sustaining. It is to be the one grand work, which more completely than any other, will connect the finest and most magnificent forest and timber lands of North-Western Ohio and of Eastern Indiana, with the broad extending plains and prairies of Western Indiana and all Illinois and Iowa. Here is established at once an interchange of products and commodities to give a paying and profitable business to employ it to its utmost capacity.

In the future operation of all this line, we have been told, that it is the design and plan of the several companies engaged, to stock their roads in common, and with perfect uniformity of cars and rolling machinery throughout, thus greatly reducing all the expenses of running and repairs, while securing to a far greater degree convenience and safety to the travelling public, trade, and to their own property. This is like having one system, and it is a sort of economy and policy which might be recommended to many other long roads and throughfares.

This work is one in which we have always felt a great interest, and have labored zealously to insure its construction feeling confident that, apart from its national importance, it would do more for Fort Wayne than any of our other great railroads. It will in fact make our city the great receiving and distributing point at which the immense traffic and travel between the East and the West will concentrate. The streams flowing westward over the Tiffin & Fort Wayne, Pittsburgh, F. W. & Erie, and Toledo & Wabash Railroads will unite in a common trunk on this road, and the reflux tide from the West will in like manner be distributed from it to the same roads. We congratulate our citizens on the absolute certainty of the immediate construction of this great work. For this happy consummation, we are greatly indebted to Mr. Schuch, the able and energetic President of the Company, by whose unwearied attention, business tact, and skillful management the present arrangement has in a great measure been effected. Our fellow citizen, Lorr S. BATES, is also entitled to a large share of the credit; and, without wishing to disparage the claims of others who have labored zealously for its realization, we must say that he has done more in its behalf than any other man. He has been from the first conception of the project actively engaged in carrying it out; and even when the prospect was darkest, and the old company, which first undertook the work, was about to disband in despair of being able to accomplish it, he still persevered, and kept the matter alive. He stuck to it through good report and evil report, and now that success is about to crown his efforts, we feel it is a simple act of justice to pay this tribute to him, but exclaimations and self-dedication to a work which will do so much for the prosperity of our city.

But this article is long enough, though we love to write on so good and so practical a theme, and will, therefore, have something to say hereafter again, on the progress, prospects and magnitude of the great American Central Railway.

Marion County Democratic Convention.—The democrats of Marion County held a Convention on Saturday last for the nominating of county officers. On motion of Mr. Tanner, a series of resolutions were adopted—reaffirming the principles laid down by our National State and County Conventions; denouncing the course of the furious majority in the Senate in violating their oaths and constitutional obligations by refusing to pass the necessary appropriation bills in opposition to banking in general, and the Bank of the State in particular; endorsing Gov. Wright for the distinguished ability and strict integrity with which he discharged the duties of Executive of the State; and condemning the persistent attempt to be made to induce the State to take back the Wabash & Erie Canal.

We do not observe any resolution endorsing President Buchanan and his administration. How is this? Is it more oversight? We should hope so. The course of the President and his Cabinet, is certainly entitled to the hearty endorsement of every democrat, and the failure of the Convention in this respect, certainly, to say the least, looks a little singular.

We copy the resolution relating to the Canal with a view of again calling the attention of our citizens to that matter.

Resolved, That as the owners of the Wabash and Erie Canal have published a proposition to that institution back upon the State, and will, doubtless, back their case with money—as is the custom with bankers and stock-jobbers of this day when they want legislation—it is the duty of every democrat to denounce the proposition, to repudiate and condemn the proposition, and to declare, once for all, that they will never consent that the people shall be saddled with SEVEN MILLIONS OF DEBT which they have already honorably paid.

democracy of those who do, unless on the plea that they are not competent to judge of what constitutes a democrat. His twaddle about being impelled to start his paper by "a general wish for a fearless and outspoken democratic paper in Fort Wayne—a paper that had life and vitality in it" &c., we let go for what it is worth. It is just what might be expected from him, but is far from the truth. He started his paper to make money out of it, and if he can make more by betraying and selling the democratic party, he will not scruple to do it. He may, by this, serve the party to which he really belongs more effectively than he did in the Times office.

If any democrats here did wish such an outspoken democratic paper, with life and vitality in it, as he describes, and think they have got it in the Jeffersonian, all we have to say is that they are easily suited, and we wish them joy in their bargain. We do not care to quarrel with them or their organ; all we designed was to show the genuine democrats the effects of the course of that "life and vitality" concern, and leave them to decide whether it would subserve the interests of the democratic party to sustain it further. This we have done, and feel no more interest in the matter.

CITY CONCERN.—Our new city council has made the following appointments: G. Humphrey, Engineer; Fire Department: W. Stewart, Market Master; J. Cochran, Dr. Weinman, and O. W. Jeffers, Board of Health; B. Saunders, Inspector of Weights and Measures.

Deserved Compliment from a High Source.—We have occasionally spoken in terms of just commendation of the splendid Photographs taken by our neighbor A. McDONALD. The following notice from the London and New York Photographic and Fine Art Journal, is proof that our praise is well deserved, and evidence that we have an artist among us whose works will pass muster with good judges, among those of the most celebrated operators. The Journal thus notices a specimen of Mac's work, which had been submitted to the inspection of its editor:

"A. McDONALD.—The portrait you send us is a very pleasing one, as well as a very excellent one in tone and finish. The head is very fine—the lights and shades being beautifully blended. A lighter background would have suited the peculiarities of the best much better. The accessories of a picture require as careful study as the principal object, and should be made to harmonize with it. As an 'untouched' picture, this will bear comparison with the works of our best Eastern photographers."

The Infant Drummer.—This wonderful little prodigy will make his appearance before a Fort Wayne audience at Colerick's Hall, this evening and Monday. The press of the various cities has visited them with complimentary notices of his performances, but owing to the crowded state of our columns we must forego the pleasure of laying them before our readers, and advise all to go and judge for themselves.

The performance will conclude with a series of beautiful Dissolving Views.

Circus.—Major Brown's Colosseum and Circus exhibited here last Tuesday and Wednesday. Though not on quite as large a scale nor presenting as much outdoor show as some other circuses, the performances were, we think, superior to any which have exhibited here for some time.

Excitement at Louisville.—The four negroes accused of murdering the late John P. Taylor, some of which have been acquitted.

One of the negroes turned State's evidence, but his testimony was not legally corroborated.

There is a great excitement about the Court-house.

Second Dispatch.—About dark a mob broke into the jail, and fired a cannon and placed it in front of the jail.

A number of shots were fired from the jail and from the mob, and bricksbats hurled against the jail.

The jailer, fearing an escape, formally surrendered two of the prisoners, and they were immediately hung. The third cut his throat with a razor.

The negro who turned State's evidence was unimpaired.

Excitement in Sonora.—Dates from the city of Mexico to April 29 have been received. The filibuster expedition to Sonora was creating much excitement.

Four thousand troops have been sent against it. It was reported that Grabb had captured several points.

Washington News.—The New York Herald's Washington correspondent thus writes:

The negotiations which, for some time past, have been pending between the governments of Great Britain and Honduras, in reference to the Bay Islands, were concluded early in March, and the treaty ratified by Honduras on the 9th of that month.

It is believed here, that the Spanish and South American Legations, that this treaty of the two governments effectually abrogates the Clayton-Bulwer Treaty; and arrangement of disputes between the Cabinets of the United States and Great Britain.

It is rumored that Mr. Stoeckel has intimated to the Government that the good offices of Russian college at Peking will be cheerfully accorded to prepare the way for successful negotiations for our Minister to China.

The satisfaction at the rejection of the Clarendon Treaty is evidently increasing. Dispatches will go out to Mr. Dallas by to-morrow's steamer, informing him of the new negotiations, which will be entertained at present by this Government.

Ernest Napier feels deeply the unpleasant position he has been placed in.

Appointments, &c.—Wm. J. Colten, of Indiana is appointed to the northern superintendency of Indian Affairs, vice Hueselmann, removed; Andrew W. Fitch, is appointed agent of the American Indians, Gilbert resigned; Fay, of New York, is appointed Governor of the Territory of Washington, vice Anderson, declined.

With a view to oblige purchasers of Trust lands in Kansas, at the approaching June and July sales, the Treasury department has made arrangements, by which notes in New York, Philadelphia and other points on the Atlantic coast, may deposit money here, in any sums with the Treasurer, whose checks or transfer drafts may be transmitted to Kansas, and received by the agent as cash.

The Secretary of the Treasury has directed the Treasurer to send the Assistant Treasurer, at St. Louis, 50 transfer drafts, of 1,000 each, which, with those of larger sums on hand will be sufficient to meet all possible demands.

Washington Items.—The Postmaster General has made a contract for one year with the New York and Havre Steamship Company, for transporting the mails between those points. Also, with Cornelius Vanderbilt between New York and Bremen, for the same period, and same number of trips.

The compensation in each case is limited to the gross amount of the United States postage, see

CITY CONCERN.—Our new city council has made the following appointments: G. Humphrey, Engineer; Fire Department: W. Stewart, Market Master; J. Cochran, Dr. Weinman, and O. W. Jeffers, Board of Health; B. Saunders, Inspector of Weights and Measures.

Deserved Compliment from a High Source.—We have occasionally spoken in terms of just commendation of the splendid Photographs taken by our neighbor A. McDONALD. The following notice from the London and New York Photographic and Fine Art Journal, is proof that our praise is well deserved, and evidence that we have an artist among us whose works will pass muster with good judges, among those of the most celebrated operators. The Journal thus notices a specimen of Mac's work, which had been submitted to the inspection of its editor:

"A. McDONALD.—The portrait you send us is a very pleasing one, as well as a very excellent one in tone and finish. The head is very fine—the lights and shades being beautifully blended. A lighter background would have suited the peculiarities of the best much better. The accessories of a picture require as careful study as the principal object, and should be made to harmonize with it. As an 'untouched' picture, this will bear comparison with the works of our best Eastern photographers."

The Infant Drummer.—This wonderful little prodigy will make his appearance before a Fort Wayne audience at Colerick's Hall, this evening and Monday. The press of the various cities has visited them with complimentary notices of his performances, but owing to the crowded state of our columns we must forego the pleasure of laying them before our readers, and advise all to go and judge for themselves.

The performance will conclude with a series of beautiful Dissolving Views.

Circus.—Major Brown's Colosseum and Circus exhibited here last Tuesday and Wednesday. Though not on quite as large a scale nor presenting as much outdoor show as some other circuses, the performances were, we think, superior to any which have exhibited here for some time.

Excitement at Louisville.—The four negroes accused of murdering the late John P. Taylor, some of which have been acquitted.

One of the negroes turned State's evidence, but his testimony was not legally corroborated.

There is a great excitement about the Court-house.

Second Dispatch.—About dark a mob broke into the jail, and fired a cannon and placed it in front of the jail.

A number of shots were fired from the jail and from the mob, and bricksbats hurled against the jail.

The jailer, fearing an escape, formally surrendered two of the prisoners, and they were immediately hung. The third cut his throat with a razor.

The negro who turned State's evidence was unimpaired.

Excitement in Sonora.—Dates from the city of Mexico to April 29 have been received. The filibuster expedition to Sonora was creating much excitement.

Four thousand troops have been sent against it. It was reported that Grabb had captured several points.

Washington News.—The New York Herald's Washington correspondent thus writes:

The negotiations which, for some time past, have been pending between the governments of Great Britain and Honduras, in reference to the Bay Islands, were concluded early in March, and the treaty ratified by Honduras on the 9th of that month.

It is believed here, that the Spanish and South American Legations, that this treaty of the two governments effectually abrogates the Clayton-Bulwer Treaty; and arrangement of disputes between the Cabinets of the United States and Great Britain.

It is rumored that Mr. Stoeckel has intimated to the Government that the good offices of Russian college at Peking will be cheerfully accorded to prepare the way for successful negotiations for our Minister to China.

The satisfaction at the rejection of the Clarendon Treaty is evidently increasing. Dispatches will go out to Mr. Dallas by to-morrow's steamer, informing him of the new negotiations, which will be entertained at present by this Government.

Ernest Napier feels deeply the unpleasant position he has been placed in.

Appointments, &c.—Wm. J. Colten, of Indiana is appointed to the northern superintendency of Indian Affairs, vice Hueselmann, removed; Andrew W. Fitch, is appointed agent of the American Indians, Gilbert resigned; Fay, of New York, is appointed Governor of the Territory of Washington, vice Anderson, declined.

With a view to oblige purchasers of Trust lands in Kansas, at the approaching June and July sales, the Treasury department has made arrangements, by which notes in New York, Philadelphia and other points on the Atlantic coast, may deposit money here, in any sums with the Treasurer, whose checks or transfer drafts may be transmitted to Kansas, and received by the agent as cash.

The Secretary of the Treasury has directed the Treasurer to send the Assistant Treasurer, at St. Louis, 50 transfer drafts, of 1,000 each, which, with those of larger sums on hand will be sufficient to meet all possible demands.

Washington Items.—The Postmaster General has made a contract for one year with the New York and Havre Steamship Company, for transporting the mails between those points. Also, with Cornelius Vanderbilt between New York and Bremen, for the same period, and same number of trips.

The compensation in each case is limited to the gross amount of the United States postage, see

democracy of those who do, unless on the plea that they are not competent to judge of what constitutes a democrat. His twaddle about being impelled to start his paper by "a general wish for a fearless and outspoken democratic paper in Fort Wayne—a paper that had life and vitality in it" &c., we let go for what it is worth. It is just what might be expected from him, but is far from the truth. He started his paper to make money out of it, and if he can make more by betraying and selling the democratic party, he will not scruple to do it. He may, by this, serve the party to which he really belongs more effectively than he did in the Times office.

If any democrats here did wish such an outspoken democratic paper, with life and vitality in it, as he describes, and think they have got it in the Jeffersonian, all we have to say is that they are easily suited, and we wish them joy in their bargain. We do not care to quarrel with them or their organ; all we designed was to show the genuine democrats the effects of the course of that "life and vitality" concern, and leave them to decide whether it would subserve the interests of the democratic party to sustain it further. This we have done, and feel no more interest in the matter.
